DATE MAILED: 09/19/2002

Notice of Possible Fee Increase on October 1, 2002

If a reply to a "Notice of Allowance and Fee(s) Due" is filed in the Office on or after October 1, 2002, then the amount due may be higher than that set forth in the "Notice of Allowance and Fee(s) Due" since there may be an increase in fees effective on October 1, 2002. See Revision of Patent and Trademark Fees for Fiscal Year 2003: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, 67 Fed. Reg. 30634, 30636 (May 7, 2002). Although a change to the amount of the publication fee is not currently proposed for October 2002, if the issue fee or publication fee is to be paid on or after October 1, 2002, applicant should check the USPTO web site for the current fees before submitting the payment. The USPTO Internet address for the fee schedule is: <http://www.uspto.gov/main/howtofees.htm>.

If the issue fee paid is the amount shown on the "Notice of Allowance and Fee(s) Due," but not the correct amount in view of any fee increase, a "Notice to Pay Balance of Issue Fee" will be mailed to applicant. In order to avoid processing delays associated with mailing of a "Notice to Pay Balance of Issue Fee," if the response to the Notice of Allowance and Fee(s) due form is to be filed on or after October 1, 2002 (or mailed with a certificate of mailing on or after October 1, 2002), the issue fee paid should be the fee that is required at the time the fee is paid. If the issue fee was previously paid, and the response to the "Notice of Allowance and Fee(s) Due" includes a request to apply a previously-paid issue fee to the issue fee now due, then the difference between the issue fee amount at the time the response is filed and the previously paid issue fee should be paid. See Manual of Patent Examining Procedure, Section 1308.01 (Eighth Edition, August 2001).

Questions relating to issue and publication fee payments should be directed to the Customer Service Center of the Office of Patent Publication at (703) 305-8283.

Reasons for Allowance

1. An after-final amendment was received from the applicant on September 12, 2002.
2. Claims 1-10 and 46-48 have been canceled.
3. Claims 11-45 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The dropped deck center beam railroad car as claimed is not shown or suggested in the prior art because of the use of a center beam railroad car that is comprised of a deck structure having first and second end portions and a medial portion that is stepped downward relative to said end portions, first and second end bulkheads that extend upwardly from opposite ends of said deck structure, and a central beam assembly that runs lengthwise along said railroad car between said end bulkheads and stands upwardly from said deck structure, where said end bulkheads extend to a greater height than said central beam assembly, and said medial portion is stepped downward relative to said end portions by at least 30 inches. The prior art also does not show or suggest the use of a center beam railroad car in combination with a center sill, a draft pocket cap plate that is mounted within an end portion of said center sill between a pair of spaced apart webs and lies at a lower level than a deck sheet, and a draft pocket that is defined between said pair of webs and below said draft pocket cap plate. The prior art also does not show or suggest the use of a medial portion of a railroad car deck structure that is connected to an end portion of said deck structure by a transition member that includes a foothold to facilitate ascent of said end portion from said medial portion of said deck structure. The prior art also does not show or suggest the use of a center beam railroad car with a bulkhead having at least one shear panel extension mounted to a bulkhead sheet and extending longitudinally outboard therefrom, where said shear panel extension lies longitudinally outboard of a shear panel and between the webs of a central vertical post.

5. The prior art as disclosed by Dominguez et al. (US 4,951,575) shows the use of a center beam railroad car with a deck structure, first and second end portions with a medial portion that is stepped downward between said end portions, first and second end bulkheads that extend upwardly from opposite ends of said deck structure, a central beam assembly that runs lengthwise between said bulkheads and stands upwardly from said deck structure, a center sill and a pair of side sills. However, the end bulkheads as disclosed by Dominguez et al. do not extend above said central beam assembly, and said medial portion is only stepped downward by 14 to 18 inches, instead of at least 30 inches. Beals (US 5,943,963) discloses a railroad flat car with a pair of end bulkheads that extend to a greater height than the side wall supports as shown in Figure 1.

However, Beals does not provide sufficient teaching to indicate that said end bulkheads may be used in combination with a central beam assembly, where said end bulkheads would extend upwardly to a greater height than said central beam assembly. Therefore, the prior art cited does not show or suggest the use of a center beam railroad car that is comprised of a deck structure having first and second end portions and a medial portion that is stepped downward relative to said end portions, first and second end bulkheads that extend upwardly from opposite ends of said deck structure, and a central beam assembly that runs lengthwise along said railroad car between said end bulkheads and stands upwardly from said deck structure, where said end bulkheads extend to a greater height than said central beam assembly, and said medial portion is stepped downward relative to said end portions by at least 30 inches. The prior art also does not show or suggest the use of a center beam railroad car in combination with a center sill, a draft pocket cap plate that is mounted within an end portion of said center sill between a pair of spaced apart webs and lies at a lower level than a deck sheet, and a draft pocket that is defined between said pair of webs and below said draft pocket cap plate. The prior art also does not show or suggest the use of a medial portion of a railroad car deck structure that is connected to an end portion of said deck structure by a transition member that includes a foothold to facilitate ascent of said end portion from said medial portion of said deck structure. The prior art also does not show or suggest the use of a center beam railroad car with a bulkhead having at least one shear panel extension mounted to a bulkhead sheet and extending longitudinally outboard therefrom, where said shear panel extension lies longitudinally outboard of a shear panel and between the webs of a central vertical post.

Conclusion

6. Any comments considered necessary by the applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance".

Art Unit: 3617

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication from the examiner should be directed to Exr. Lars Olson whose telephone number is (703) 308-9807.
